Subject: Website suggestion
Posted by Rzyduch on Thu, 02 Dec 2010 13:58:30 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Please excuse my English, you may reply in Polish

It would be helpful if the 'News/changes in PomGenBase'
were archived in the 'parishname Parish info' page

So when viewing the 'parishname Parish info' page
you can see the history of when the indexes were added for that parish

For Example
On page http://www.ptg.gda.pl/index.php/certificate/action/showinfo/ parishName/Byslaw

Add the information
Wednesday 1 December 2010
Added baptism index for years 1868-1871

Also another question, the News/changes in PomGenBase ends at Tuesday 5 October 2010

Are older news/changes available to see?

Subject: Odp: Website suggestion
Posted by Janusz on Thu, 02 Dec 2010 16:26:03 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hello!

Please explain us why, these historical informations about adding new indexes on our website are so important for you?
If you want you can find information only by typing last name if you click PomGenBase.You can also click in this label "PomGenBase" heading "metrical indexes" when you can find information which indexes from which parishes are in PomGenBase on our website

regards Janusz Pawelczyk

Subject: Odp: Website suggestion
Posted by Rzyduch on Thu, 02 Dec 2010 17:41:44 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

There are some parishes I am working on. It would be good to go to the parish info page to see if there is any new information. It would also provide statistics on the progress of the indexing.

Doing a PomGenBase search, the results are all records. There is nothing separating 'what's new' and records I have already researched. A 'date indexed' column in the results, or a 'added after date' in the search form would be helpful.

Subject: Odp: Website suggestion
Posted by adamkami on Mon, 06 Dec 2010 13:48:37 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

It's very interesting idea. The information about changes in indexes is stored since October 2007. It looks that I will be able to put this information into Parish info page. The amount of work is not too big, but the list of changes to be done on our web page is very long. So probably it will not be ready in this year.

Regards,
