Hello everyone --

I am coming to Poland in 36 days, and I have done my family tree dating back to 1695... 99.999% of my father's side of the family are Kashubian.

When doing my tree, I noticed that all of them are in & around the present day "Ecological Park" --

I have book numbers/locations for the records -- do I need to go to every individual parish to look at these books, or are they located in Pelplin in the archives?

Only 1 record starts with "10" (and I know that means it's the state archives in Gdansk)...the rest of the records begin with a W.

Please help -- I want to see these books, and don't know what to do in order to accomplish this.

Thank you in advance.

Hello!

Sorry for the late answer. I hope it isn't too late.

Here is Pelplin Archive web page
<http://www.diecezja-pelplin.pl/instytucje/archiwum-diecezjalne>
You can find there any necessary information.
(incl open hours and metrical book list)
It's written in Polish.

Pelplin Archive is very friendly for any genealogist.

Kind Regards
Janus
